MUSIC MEMORY

About: The nationally-recognized curriculum provides students in 2nd through 8th grade an in-depth study of 16-20 selected compositions each year. The music is chosen from the five historical periods: Renaissance, Baroque, Classical, Romantic and Contemporary. Prominent composers of orchestral, vocal, choral, band and keyboard pieces are featured.

Students engage in a wide range of artistic activities, including creative and structured movement, singing, and performing on rhythm and melody instruments. As they become aware of the structure of each piece—its melodic, harmonic and rhythmic patterns and the instrumentation or voices used--they are able to identify works and composers upon hearing only a few bars. Students develop critical thinking, pattern recognition, emotional involvement and creative expression skills.

The Competition: The year-long Music Memory curriculum culminates in a Name-That-Tune style competition featuring the Cape Symphony Orchestra. Free of charge to participating schools.

For Teachers: The Cape Conservatory provides specialized training sessions with a teacher who has worked extensively with the program, at no cost. Music teachers receive an education packet, including Video Maps, recordings, lesson plans and more purchased by their schools. Video Maps are visual animated guides for young listeners to help them easily understand how the music is constructed.
